About the Magazine

A Journal on Circuits and Systems is a specialized publication that focuses on the field of electrical and electronic circuits, systems, and related topics. These journals serve as platforms for researchers, scientists, and engineers to share their original research findings, innovative designs, and technological advancements.

Articles published in these journals cover a wide range of topics, including circuit theory, signal processing, communication systems, control systems, power electronics, and integrated circuits. They provide in-depth analyses, theoretical frameworks, and practical applications in these areas.

Journal on Circuits and Systems also serves as a valuable resource for academicians, students, and industry professionals who are interested in staying up-to-date with the latest developments, emerging trends, and breakthroughs in the field. With contributions from experts in the industry, these journals foster knowledge exchange, collaboration, and advancements in circuit and system design.

Researchers and enthusiasts can subscribe to these journals to access cutting-edge research papers, review articles, and technical notes. This facilitates continuous learning, exploration of new ideas, and the dissemination of knowledge in the field of circuits and systems.
